

Local Wastewater Management Company Announces Merger
SeptiPRO Merges into FRANC Environmental, Enhancing Real Estate Service Offering

HORSHAM – March 12, 2013 –FRANC Environmental, a local full service septic system and wastewater management services company, is pleased to announce their recent merger with SeptiPRO, Inc., a septic system services company in the Delaware Valley.

Both FRANC Environmental and SeptiPRO are represented by the Ferrero name. For more than 50 years, the Ferreros have provided services to customers within Bucks, Montgomery and Philadelphia Counties, with a strong focus on real estate inspection services, including septic tank system inspection from pre-listing to closing, and homeowner septic system inspection, repair, and maintenance.

SeptiPRO received the first accreditation issued in Pennsylvania by the National Sanitation Foundation and its employees have been trained by organizations including: the Pennsylvania Septage Management Association and the National Association of Wastewater Technicians.

“SeptiPRO has a reputation of providing superior results and service to customers in the Delaware Valley,” says Tom Ferrero, CEO of FRANC Environmental. “And so does FRANC Environmental. The merger allows us to apply our values and dedication to larger market of professionals – it has greatly enhanced our real estate services.”

In addition to FRANC’s residential, commercial and municipal wastewater and septic system services, FRANC now offers a full-range of real estate services including:

- Septic System Inspection (Certification) for Real Estate Transactions
- Pre-Listing Septic System Inspections
- Septic System Locating Services
- Troubleshooting and Evaluation Services
- Consulting and Expert Testimony

Ferrero says that this merger will help FRANC Environmental to better meet the needs of its growing clientele while still providing superior service.
